

Tymere Alexander
Senorita Moran
Spanish 2
14 November 2015

Dia de Los Muertas

Welcome friend, I'm here today to tell you about my wonderful aunt who passed away ocho years ago. My aunt's name was Tamilia Francis. She was a wonderful aunt and was always kind and strong. Everything she went through, good times and hard, she always kept a smile on her face. So you may be wondering, how did she die? In 2004, my aunt gave birth to her first and only daughter. Everything was going well until my aunt had a seizure right after birth. But this seizure wasn't an ordinary seizure, it was a seizure that can occur when giving birth known as Preeclampsia. Preeclampsia is caused by abnormal heart rates when giving birth. My aunt went into a coma shortly after that and 3 years later, she died.

To me, my aunt the physical form of power. She had a kind of strength that no normal could possibly contain. She was supportive, careful, and entertaining.

Though she may have so many wonderful traits, I always notice a slight change in her expressions. She is always down whenever she looked happy. But even under that sadness, she still tries her best to do what she needs to do. This is why I decided to create my sugar skull and skull mask in honor of her. She shows motivation and determination, something that others seem to have lost.

The colors of my sugar skull are blue, black and grey. These were the colors that my aunt loved and cherished with her heart. So I decided to use these colors to honor her memory. There are two puffballs on the mask. These puffballs represent the moon which is one thing my aunt always stops to look at. In the mask, the colors intersect each over to represent her work life and her family life and how she was able to balance each of the two together.

Dia de los muertos has left me with so many opportunities for how to honor loved ones. For starters, I'm now going to start creating things to honor my dead relatives. I will visit graves and tell the graves stories that they're not able to here anymore. I'll start throwing parties for my loved ones with food and drinks that they liked. My aunt has passed. Her physical body has left this world, but her mind still lives on. R.I.P Tamilia Francis.

Spanish Eulogy

Hola. Mi llamo es Tymere Alexander. Yo soy muy alto y inteligente. Mi cumpleaños es vienti y nueve, agosto, mil diecinueve. Yo estoy nacio en Philadelphia.

Mi muerta pariente es llama Tamilia Francis.

Origen

Tamília está nacio en veinte y uno, agosto, mil diecinueve. Ella está nacia en Albert Einstein hospital en Philadelphia.

Indentificación

Tamília vive en Mount airy hasta que edad nueve. Ella cambiarse North Philadelphia.

Características

Tamília es muy inteligente y guapa.

Tamília es alto.

Tamília es muy bien.

Localización

Yo vivo en Philadelphia. Mi familia vive en Philadelphia.

Condiciones

Yo soy enfermo de el muerto.

Conclusion

Yo necesito es lloro. Yo necesito es fuerte. Me encanta tu Tía.

<https://www.wevideo.com/hub#view/510776340>

